Ricardo Valderrama Fernández (Editor) 3.80 · Rating details · 41 ratings · 7 reviews. Gregorio Condoni Mamani and Asunta Quispe Huaman were runakuna, a Quechua word that means "people" and refers to the millions of indigenous inhabitants of the highlands of Peru and other Andean countries. Exploited and reviled by local power holders, neglected by the state, and silenced by dominant cultural discourses, the voices of this cultural majority are seldom heard.

As such, it is a welcome addition to the published literature in English on Andean cultures. The first, and by far the longer of the two testimonios, is that of Gregorio Condoni Mamani. In his 60s at the time he recorded his story, Gregorio details his life starting from his childhood as an orphan forced into servitude.
