Fleet entered Leavenworth on July 11, 1923, a quiet twenty-year-old. He wasn't the youngest Booker T player, but the Catholic Fleet looked young, with the innocence of an altar boy, not an asset in Leavenworth's tough environment. A functional illiterate, he had quit school after the second grade, fell in with the wrong crowd, committed housebreaking and larceny, and received a ten-year sentence in the federal pen.
