John Pickeryng wrote a poem mourning the loss of courtly life upon the advent of war. What distinguishes a farewell poem from an elegy or a poem of lost love is the understanding that there might be a natural order in hellos and goodbyes--the tone of a farewell poem might be melancholy, but it can also be celebratory, or sweet, or even silly. One imagines that the goodbye might be temporary, or that the thing lost might not be so bad to lose.

~~Farewell Poems | Academy of American Poets~~

And our time is at an end. The rest of your life is starting, And we have no time at all to spend. You knew one day you'd have to go, But thought you'd have more time. We can't reverse time's one-way flow, But at least you'll have this rhyme. You had your shining moments,
