Unless the dancer makes a break and has a steady job, he/she will not be able to pay for the countless amounts of dance shoes, costumes, and training. Even though there are very successful people in the competitive dance world, like my interviewees, Tiler Peck and Sasha Mallory, the majority of dancers who dream about being professional dancers do not make it because of competition, expenses, and injury.

A truly universal definition of dance must, therefore, return to the fundamental principle that dance is an art form or activity that utilizes the body and the range of movement of which the body is capable. Unlike the movements performed in everyday living, dance movements are not directly related to work, travel, or survival.
