There's no chance in forgetting the characters in Jacqueline Davies's Lost, so vivid and true are their voices. Like the more recent tragedy of 9/11, the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire of 1911* is now burned into my consciousness as if with a hot brand. Seventeen-year-old Essie Rosenfeld lives on the lower east side of Manhattan in 1911.

Lost by Jacqueline Davies Lost is really the telling of two stories, which eventually become one. Because of this, readers need a little patience as Lost starts slowly. The first story begins on February 6, 1905 with Essie Rosenfeld recounting the birth of her younger sister Zelda.

LibrisNotes: Lost by Jacqueline Davies

"Lost" by Jacqueline Davies deftly weaves together two separate news stories from 1911 into a charming young adult novel. The narrator, Essie, is a Jewish American teenager living in the New York City of the early 20th century.

by Jacqueline Davies. Essie can tell from the moment she lays eyes on Harriet Abbott: this is a woman who has taken a wrong turn in life. Why else would an educated, well-dressed, clearly upper-crust girl end up in the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory setting sleeves for six dollars a day? As the unlikely friendship between Essie and Harriet grows, so does the weight of the question hanging between ...
